Better Us! Better Earth!

Learn about the local culture and customs before you go. The more you know about a destination, the better you can appreciate and understand it.

When facing with strong cultural differences, please think twice before you act or behave and try to respect the differences.

Respect the local customs whenever you are visiting a local house; taking photographs with local people; handing things to them...

Always ask your guides for how to act or behave to the locality if you are not sure, during your travel. This is your holiday but it is their everyday lives.

Learn how to greet people in their languages! Learn some words in local language and don't be afraid to use it. Being able to say even some simple words like "Hello", "Goodbye" and "Thank you" will help you to get closer to the local people. They'll very much appreciate your efforts.

And in Thailand, Laos, Cambodia and Myanmar a respectful way of greeting others is to bow the head slightly with both hands pressed together at the chest.

Be sensitive to local cultures

Whatever the situation is, try to stay calm; firm and courteous and speak without raising your voice.

The concept of saving face exists everywhere, and in Asia, it seems even more important. Therefore, try not to cause embarrassment to the local people in any way. Keep in mind that smiling is the easiest way to open any cultural doors.

Criticism is not easily accepted either and so please always give criticism (if you really need to) along with praise.

Respect local cultures!

Each country has multiple ethnic groups, each of whom may have their own modes of etiquette and social taboos. Always listen to the advice of your guide how to behave in each group.

Cultural diversity is what you are looking for so accept the differences and enjoy it!

Do also tell locals about your own culture, most are just as curious as you and eager to learn about other cultures as well.

In rural spots such as waterfalls and rivers, avoid bikinis and swimming suits, keep your tee-shirt on and maybe wear a sarong as well to cover your legs.

Follow proper culture etiquette!

Asian societies remain fairly traditional and are attached to old customs. So please kindly:

Avoid showing affection in public as it is considered quite offensive – sorry but no kissing!

Don't point or gesture with your feet or put your feet up on the furniture.

Avoid touching someone on the head.

When using a toothpick, use the other hand to cover your mouth.

Present money and gifts with both hands and receive them the same way.

Always let the oldest be served first and bend slightly in front of elders.

Don't curl your fingers to beckon somebody over or point it at another person's face. Asian people generally use a subtle downward waving motion to summon someone.

RESPECTING LOCAL CULTURE

Respect cultural sites!

Many cultural sites, even those in ruins are sacred grounds, so:

It is forbidden to walk or climb anywhere off regular footpaths, to scrawl or scribble on monuments, and to collect stones or any parts of the monuments or sites.

Contact with monks!

Show respect to monks, novices and nuns. Don't offer to shake hands and avoid stepping on a monk's shadow.

Ladies are not allowed to sit next to, or hand anything directly to Buddhist monks.

Show respect by not taking photos or disturbing monks during prayer times.

Don't sit with your back or feet towards Buddha's image.

Handle Buddha images or sacred objects with respect; avoid placing them in inappropriate places (on the floor for example).

Answer questions!

Be prepared to answer, on numerous times, personal questions like: "Where are you from? Where are you going? Are you married? How old are you?"... Most people are simply trying to be friendly, to practise their English skills or start a conversation.

Respecting the Local Environment

Asia's tremendous economic growth has taken place at the expense of its environment and precious biodiversity. Let's make our travels meaningful by helping to enhance the beauty of its environment.

Save energy and water!

Ask your driver to open windows to cool down with fresh air in rural areas when possible.

For the best sightseeing experience, walk; cycle; take a cyclo or a rickshaw instead of using cars.

Conserve energy by switching off the TV, lights and any other electrical appliances whenever you leave your hotel room.

If you do use air-con or heating, don't crank them up too high and make sure the windows and doors closed properly.

Conserve water by keeping showers short, avoid baths and don't do unnecessary laundry, especially in arid locations.

Water is precious. Help save it.

Say no to things that can harm the environment!

Take your own bags with you when shopping – Use no more plastic or styrofoam food boxes. Their disposal is a major problem in Asia these days.

When ordering a drink, ask your guide to help you order without a plastic straw. Even if a glass is not clean using a straw does not make it any safer.

Avoid wrapping your luggage in kilometres of plastic wrap; protect them with locks and carry precious items with you.

Waste is waste!

Avoid leaving any rubbish behind, especially when trekking or visiting rural villages. To protect Mother Nature, pick up any rubbish you see littering the forest, the sea or the beach.

Smokers, please keep your cigarette butts with you until you find the next dustbin.

Bring back your used batteries to your home country, since there is no reliable recycling processing here.

Organic waste like food scraps should not be scattered or buried in National Parks or in any natural areas. This may introduce nonendemic seeds into the local ecosystem.

Carry back all your waste with you.

Avoid throwing waste on a fire as it might offend the local community – many locals consider fire to be sacred.

Refill your bottles!

Refilling your bottles is not always easy, but we are step by step to be able to do that with RefillMyBottle.

RESPECTING THE LOCAL ENVIRONMENT

Use your own refillable bottle or simply refill a plastic one with the water stations that you can easily find on the mobile application "RefillMyBottle" or ask your guide for help.

(Link for downloading the app)

Protect the wildlife and the flora!

Trading of elephants, tigers, primates, marine animals alive or dead and animal parts such as meat, ivory, bones, shells is illegal based on CITES (Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species of Wild Fauna and Flora). Therefore,

Do not buy any wild animals either dead or alive. For example, sometimes local people will try to sell you caged birds to be set free that helps to bring good luck. However, by paying for it you only encourage them to capture more.

Don't even buy parts of wild animals turtle, pangolin, monkey, red tuna, seahorses, shells, coral... You would encounter with local law. So better please check with your guides before buying anything.

Do not buy any furniture made of timber or other natural materials taken from the forest and the natural ecosystem. It will help to save the forest somehow.

There is a growing movement against elephant rides, we recommend a more sensitive approach and have carefully selected camps where elephant welfare is a priority.

If you see an elephant forbidden to eat grass, walking on concrete, being kept under the sun, carrying over 150kgs or performing unnatural activities such as painting, playing football etc... Refuse it!

RESPECTING THE LOCAL ENVIRONMENT

Limit your ecological footprint!

When snorkelling, be aware that touching coral formations hinder their growth – and note that coral cuts are prone to infection.

Do not collect or buy any coral or shell.

In limestones caves, do not touch formations as natural body oils hinder their growth and discolour the limestone. These have taken thousands of years to shape into what you can see today!

Reduce deforestation by avoiding unnecessary use of scarce firewood by limiting beach bonfires.

On nature treks, when you need to bathe in streams or lakes, limit soap usage and/or use organic soap and shampoo.

Detergent powder is even more harmful to the natural ecosystem, so avoid using it whenever possible.

Toilet Facilities!

Please always use the toilet facilities provided. If there are none, go at least 50 meters away from water sources and people's homes.

Cover everything and carry any sanitary napkins or baby diapers back with you in a bag for appropriate disposal later.

Contributing to Poverty Alleviation

CONTRIBUTING TO POVERTY ALLEVIATION

If you wish to alleviate poverty and provide better life opportunities for children and their families, we recommend you to do it through registered organisations.

Of course, it's not easy to assess the reliability of an organisation in a foreign country. In response to traveller's requests, we will support a list of the carefully selected projects you can trust in each destination. Contact with our sales if you are intending to do.

Child Protection

During your travels, you will probably meet children at risk – perhaps begging at crossroads, selling postcards or fruit at tourist sites, or shining shoes in train stations. You want to help them, but you don't know how. Follow these 7 tips and travel ChildSafe!

Children are NOT tourist attractions!

Visiting children centres, orphanages or schools is forbidden in western countries.

Research has shown that short-term visits (including volunteer tourism) can be harmful to a child's development and emotional balance. Therefore,

Refuse to take part in any visit that brings you to children centres, orphanages or schools.

Do not give gifts, money or sweets to children or buy anything from them – although you might think it helps, but in long-term it prevents children from schools and prefers street livies.

CHILD PROTECTION

If you wish to learn more, please visit www.thinkchildsafe.org
During your travels, you will probably meet children at risk – perhaps begging at crossroads, selling postcards or fruit at tourist sites, or shining shoes in train stations. You want to help them, but you don't know how. Follow these 7 tips and travel ChildSafe!

Tip 01 THINK! Children are not tourist attractions – Don't treat them like they are.

Children should be living or studying in schools, orphanages or slums shouldn't be exposed to tourist visits. These places are not zoos. Imagine a bus full of foreigners visiting schools in your home country. Would you find this acceptable?

Travel ChildSafe: Put child protection first and do not visit these places. Find alternatives that really help children at www.thinkchildsafe.org.

Tip 02 THINK! Volunteering with children makes you feel good but it could be harmful – Look for better ways to help them.

Working with children in institutions such as orphanages is a job for local experts, not for travelers who are just passing through. Children deserve more than good intentions: they deserve experienced and skilled caretakers and teachers who know the local culture and language.

Travel ChildSafe: Make sure your volunteering is a great experience and has the best impact possible. Do not work directly with children; instead, share your professional skills with local staff. You can also explore other ways to put your talents to use. Find more information and alternatives at www.thinkchildsafe.org.

Tip 03 THINK! Children pay a price for your generosity – Don't give to begging children.

When you give money, food or gifts to begging children, you encourage them to continue begging, which prevents them from going to school and locks them into a cycle of poverty.

CHILD PROTECTION

Travel ChildSafe: There are better ways to support children and youth: use businesses with a social impact, such as training restaurants and shops, or donate to organizations supporting children and their families. Find such organizations and businesses at www.thinkchildsafe.org.

Tip 04 THINK! Professionals know better than you – Call them if you find a child need help.

Helping children directly can cause problems because you don't know the local culture and laws. For instance, never take a child back to your hotel room – it's dangerous for both you and the child.

Travel ChildSafe: When you see a child in need, the best thing to do is to contact local professionals. Call a child protection hotline, contact a local organization or call the police. You won't bother anyone – it is their job to check and help. Just call. You could save their life and give them a first chance to build their future. Find a list of hotlines at www.thinkchildsafe.org.

Tip 05 THINK! Sex with children is a crime – report child sex tourism.

Sex tourism involving children is a devastating reality. It happens in hotels, in bars, etc. You may also be offered to have sex with children.

Travel ChildSafe: When you see such a situation, don't put yourself at risk. Call a child protection hotline, contact a local organization or call the police so immediate action can be taken to protect the child and investigate the situation. Find a list of hotlines at www.thinkchildsafe.org.

Tip 06 THINK! Children should not be at work instead of school – Report child labor.

Some tourism businesses like hotels, restaurants or bars hire children, & it's a problem when it hurts their education & development.

Travel ChildSafe: If you think that a business employs underage

A photograph of four children, likely of Southeast Asian descent, running away from the camera on a dirt path. They are wearing traditional, colorful clothing with intricate patterns. The background shows a rural landscape with green hills and some buildings in the distance.

Child Protection

children and prevents them from going to school, call a child protection hotline, contact a local organization or call the police. They will check the child's situation – many children are just helping out their parents after school, but some may be exploited. Find a list of hotlines at www.thinkchildsafe.org

Tip 07 THINK! Protect Children – Be a ChildSafe Traveler.

ChildSafe raises awareness about how you can help children during your trip. It also trains and certifies many businesses in the tourism industry (such as hotels, travel agencies, restaurants, and taxi services) to actively protect children.

18 Travel ChildSafe: Use ChildSafe-certified businesses when planning and throughout your trip to avoid being involved in harmful situations for children. Every action described in these tips can make a big difference. Join the movement and together, let's protect children! ChildSafe is a global movement protecting children and youth around the world.

Be a ChildSafe traveler. Join the movement.

RESPONSIBLE SPENDING

Support the local economy!

Buy locally made food & handicrafts directly from local craftsman and markets.

At the end of the booklet you'll find a list of shops supporting community projects that help to directly improve the livelihoods of the most disadvantaged people.

Avoid purchasing souvenirs made of shells, corals, precious wood or any endangered species listed on the IUCN Red List (eg: turtles, elephants, tigers, pangolins, sharks, whales etc.).

Do not purchase historical artefacts.

Bargain within reason and with a smile!

With patience and a broad smile you will not only get a better price but also enjoy the art of negotiation that is very much part of markets in Asia.

Whatever you buy, be mindful that it is part of their livelihood. Experience local transport!

The diversity of local modes of transport adds to the charm of travel. You might be annoyed sometimes by endless calls to use tuk tuks or cyclos but be patient. A polite 'no, thank you' will suffice.

Be sure to always check and get the price agreed before taking any form of local transport.

any form or local transport.

Drugs & Alcohol is prohibited!

In Asia, the use of illegal drugs is strictly forbidden and you can face harsh punishment if convicted, including the death penalty (e.g. opium, marijuana etc...)

In some areas of Thailand and Indonesia, alcohol consumption is forbidden. It is also banned in Thailand's National Park. Always mind your own consumption, especially in rural areas. Do not support the sex industry!

This includes the various shows in hostess bars, street prostitution etc... You risk putting money into the hands of the mafia and catching diseases.

What you may see as a glitzy entertainment has a gloomy backstage. Most men and women involved are part of a larger network of human traffickers.

Pedophilia is strictly forbidden. Violators will be pursued and prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law, even after they return to their home countries.
