Overview:

What better and more exciting way to get off the beaten path and enjoy the incredible scenery of Sapa than one two wheels? Binh Lu is beautiful valley and home to different hill tribes, who live this area. Explore the market and their village is a good way to understand their life style, customs and culture. This tour brings you to one of the most beautiful passes in Vietnam, visit market in remote hill tribe village and interact with the locals as they indulge their curiosity in you and your bike.

Itinerary:

Meet you at your hotel in the morning, start your uphill ride from Sa Pa to Heaven's Gate, approximately 15 kilometres. If you want, you can request a support car to a starting point at Silver Waterfall. From here, you will climb over the stunning Tram Ton Pass, the highest mountain pass in Indochina at 2047 metres above sea level providing fantastic views of the Hoang Lien National Park. It is about 3 kilometres. Next, you will enjoy a free-wheeling 30 kilometre glide to Binh Lu town. The driving time is approximately 2 hours. If you arrive in Binh Lu on a Thursday or Sunday morning, you have the option to save time by taking a car to the top of the Pass before gliding down to visit the Binh Lu Market. The Binh Lu area is dotted with the villages of many hill tribes including Thai, Black Dzao, Red H'Mong, Lu and Dzay. Enjoy lunch at a local restaurant.

After lunch, enjoy a cycle about 7 kilometres to a Thai Village and explore the Fairy Mountain Cave before meeting your support car for the drive back through Tram Ton Pass to Sa Pa
